

pyp-myp

World Diabetes Day

November 14

wear blue to show your support Friday 13th November 2026

by Maxwell Arlie Hamblin

What is diabetes?

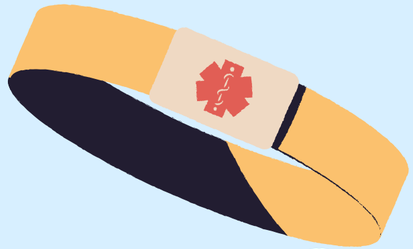

Type one diabetes is an autoimmune disease where your body is not able to turn the food you eat into energy. There are several types of diabetes and some people have to take insulin.

Some common signs of diabetes are losing weight, extreme hunger and increased thirst. Around 500,000 people have diabetes worldwide.

For more information go to Go here for more information

Diabetes tools

One tool for diabetes is a pump. A pump is a small electronic device that can be connected to a continuous glucose monitor (CGM). It is often used by type one diabetics as it also gives insulin. This means that they only need one jab every 2 to 3 days and once every week.

for more info go to

Go here for more information

